

Pilgrimage Update - COVID-19

Dear Pilgrim,

In light of the current situation, we realise that many of you are concerned about your future bookings with Tangney Tours. We would like to take this opportunity to reassure you that your booking with us is 100% financially protected. All travel by air is covered by the Government's Air Tour Operators Licence (ATOL) which guarantees your money. For any overland travel or 'accommodation only' reservations we have a bond with the Association of British Travel Agents (ABTA), which again protects your money.

If your pilgrimage has been affected by Covid-19, we will be in touch with you offering various options.

Should your pilgrimage be cancelled by Tangney Tours, you will have the choice of a refund or the option to postpone to a future Pilgrimage. Those opting to postpone will have the opportunity at any time to change their mind and ask for a refund.

If you have not heard from us, your pilgrimage will be continuing as normal and any balances due should be paid in line with the terms and conditions of your booking. However, if your pilgrimage should subsequently be cancelled, the paragraph above will still apply.

In line with the Government recommendation and for the safety of our team, all our staff are currently working from home for the foreseeable future. Tangney Tours continues to operate as we have since 1974. However during this time, we have limited telephone capacity. We please request that you contact us by email, through Facebook or simply visit our website for up to date pilgrimage information. For any urgent enquiries, as always, our dedicated team will be delighted to assist.

We will resume full office operations as soon as it is safe and possible to do so.

We've proudly been looking after pilgrims for over 40 years and will continue do so for many years to come.

From all our team at Tangney Tours, we thank you for your support during these unprecedented times.

Nicholas & John Tangney
